The Cotgreave Magazine Rack has been in use in the news-room here since the opening of the Library. I can unhesitatingly speak of its value, for it greatly tends to keep the tables tidy. Being so compact it takes up little room, and a reader can see at a glance the periodical he wishes to read."

JUNE MEETING.

This meeting was held at Hulme on June 14th, with the President in the chair part of the evening. On leaving he was succeeded by Mr. J. H. Swann. There was a good attendance, among the visitors being several students of the Summer school. Mr. R. Irwin opened a discussion on "Hints to Assistants in Reading," quoting a passage from a contemporary which said "Henty and Ballantyne are more to their mind, and as they grow older they graduate to Boothby and Dick Donovan," and pleading that one of the best ways to raise the status of assistants was by the formulation of a systematic scheme of reading, which should give them that general knowledge they lacked. He went on to suggest that junior assistants should pay more attention to the acquirement of general than technical knowledge, and wished to see a test of thorough education compulsory before an assistant be allowed to sit for the professional examination. Mr. Dickens saw practical difficulties in the formulation of a scheme of reading, and pointed out that though in the present library system it was absolutely necessary for a boy to be able to find books, and that it was quite optional for him to know their contents, yet it was the fault of the individual if his knowledge stopped short at the title page. He strongly supported the idea of a graded examination. Other speakers having spoken in the same vein the discussion closed.

Mr. Edward McKnight having resigned his seat on the Committee on his appointment to Chorley, Miss T. J. Alley, of Chorlton, was duly nominated and elected to fill the vacancy. The meeting terminated with the usual votes of thanks.

WOMEN LIBRARIANS.

On Tuesday, 4th July, in the small hall of Westminster Town Hall, the International Congress of Women will hold a meeting to discuss Librarianship as a Profession for Women. Miss James, Miss Petherbridge, Mrs. F. H. Hess, and Miss Toulmin Smith are reading papers.

Phillips, a volume containing part of the diary of John Dawson, exciseman, of whose valuable gift to Shoreditch an account is given on p. 165. This is signed by John Hotham, vicar, James Dawson and William Burgess. It is curious that two volumes of the "Life" should have remained at Shoreditch, but a large illumination of the Dawson arms on the inside front cover may have made this volume of special value to the executor.

The volume was sold for upwards of £7, and has gone to enrich the collection of rare and valuable Yorkshire Topography which Dewsbury Public Library owns, and as Dawson was a native of the town it could have no more fitting home, unless it had gone to Shoreditch to stand beside its two companion volumes.

A WOMAN LIBRARIAN PRAYED FOR.

"Oh, Lord, vouchsafe Thy saving grace to the librarian, and cleanse her of her sin and make her worthy of her office."

Such was the prayer of a reverend gentleman of Los Angeles, California, to whom offence had been given by the librarian in that the library committee had permitted the circulation of unorthodox books.

The law courts did not agree with such clerical licence, and inflicted a heavy penalty for the indiscretion.

THE SOCIETY OF PUBLIC LIBRARIANS.

A meeting was held at Bishopsgate on May 3rd, when Mr. W. Bridle (East Ham), read a paper on "Public Lending Library Catalogues," which was a plea for the dictionary catalogue in two parts (the first consisting of author and title list, and the second a classified list), as against the classified catalogue. A long discussion ensued.

SEVEN-DAYS WORK AND PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

DEAR SIR,

Other people than clergymen and newsagents are interested in the seven-day newspaper question—amongst others library assistants, because the continuous opening of a building seven days in a week (like the continuous publication of a paper), means seven days' labour. The Puritan backbone of England has stiffened at two newspapers who dared to call their seventh-day editions by the same name as their ordinary edition, and Battersea and Shoreditch Vestries, and the Bishopsgate and Cripplegate Trustees have banned all their issues from the reading rooms. But the weekly edition of the "Globe" is called the "People," of the "Westminster Gazette" is called the "Weekly Dispatch," and of the "Chronicle" is called "Lloyds," and all of these issue editions printed in the early hours of Sunday morning, and sold on that day. Are not these too, "fraught with serious industrial consequences to the working classes, and moral, ethical and physical detriment to the whole nation," or is it true that a change of name excuses seven day issues? I have quoted from the Battersea Vestry's resolution, but do not the Battersea Libraries open on Sundays, and does no one therein work seven days in any one week, and perchance sell part of his seventh day for a fee to watch over the Reading Room, or does no cleaner have to clean up seven days? Seven days work is necessarily entailed in smaller libraries that open on Sunday, and I shall be glad to be assured that Battersea is not working its libraries to the "moral, ethical and physical detriment" of any one of its library officers such as their words depict to be unhappy case of the library committee who employs

WOMEN AS LIBRARIANS IN BRISTOL.

By W. L. SELBY.

The editor regrets that in the compression necessary, owing to great pressure of matter last month, a mistake occurred in this article.

No one who is acquainted with the history of the Bristol Libraries could fall into the error of stating that the books given by Archbishop Mathew, between 1613 and 1628, are in the Bristol Museum and Library—a comparatively modern institution. They are carefully preserved in the Bristol Central Reference Library founded in 1613. Had the article been printed in extenso this would have been clearly seen.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS' ASSOCIATION.

FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT.

To be presented to the Annual Meeting, at 20, Hanover Square, on Wednesday, July 19th, 1899.

The Committee beg to submit the Fourth Annual Report on the work of the L.A.A. The year now under review has been one of considerable progress and unvarying success. A branch has been formed, the first dinner held, the membership has largely increased, the journal has been continuously published, and the funds of the Association continue in a very satisfactory condition.

The Third Annual Meeting was held on July 13th, 1898, when no alterations were made in the rules, though a motion was carried, that on a London Committeeman failing to attend three consecutive meetings to which he had been summoned, his seat should be declared vacant. A unanimous resolution was carried, respectfully protesting against the admission of others than those actually engaged in library work to the Library Association classes.

At this meeting, as a slight testimonial of appreciation of the many kindnesses of Mr. J. Y. W. MacAlister to this Association, a silver salver, which had been subscribed for by the members of the L.A.A., was presented to him.

A Special General Meeting in March almost unanimously altered Rule 6, clause a, in view of the great increase in the number of country members, so that the Committee will in future consist of ten London and ten non-London members.

The Ordinary Meetings have been regularly held each month from October to June, and the Association is again to be congratulated on the admirable series of lectures and discussions which were arranged. The best thanks of the members are due to the lecturers, to those gentlemen who have occasionally presided, and to those librarians and others who have kindly provided accommodation for the meetings. To the Governors of the Cripplegate Institute the Association is especially indebted for the privilege of a central meeting place for the Committee, while Mr. Herbert Jones, of Kensington, Mr. Laurence Inkster, of Battersea, and Mr. Thomas Mason, of St. Martin's, have also placed rooms at our disposal. To Mr. George Preece, of Stoke Newington, the Association is much indebted, in that for three succeeding years he has placed a room at our disposal for the annual audit.

The first dinner took place in November, and proved a great success socially and financially. The Annual Concert and Conversazione took place in April, in the Hall of St. Bride Foundation Institute, kindly lent by the Governors, and was well attended. The services of the artistes were again given gratuitously, though out of the proceeds of the dinner—which defrayed the costs of the concert—a small honorarium was voted to Mr. T. H. Yeldham, who very generously had placed his services at the piano at the disposal of the Entertainment Committee for the social gatherings of the past three seasons.

During the summer months excursions were made to Hatfield, Windsor, Twickenham, and St. Albans, the first and third of which were unqualified successes, but the attendance at the other two was poor. The thanks of the members are due to the Marquis of Salisbury and to Mr. R. R. Holmes, for the permissions to view the libraries of Hatfield and Windsor; while to Mr. Henry Labouchere, M.P., who kindly placed the gardens of Pope's Villa at our disposal for the day, and to Mr. Edwin Maynard, of Twickenham, we are especially indebted. An endeavour was made to arrange a visit to Stratford-on-Avon on Whit Monday, but adequate arrangements could not be made with the railway companies, though the idea was well supported. The arrangements for this summer are now under consideration, and will commence on June 28th, with a visit to Wandsworth.

With a view to increasing the interest of occasional visitors to the meetings in the work of the L.A.A., Messrs. Brown, Chambers, and Rees were appointed to welcome visitors, and the result has been very satisfactory.

The chief feature of the year's work is the formation of the N.W. Branch at Manchester. A circular letter was issued to all the librarians and assistants in Lancashire and Cheshire, with a view to obtaining their support. Many favourable replies were received, but it is mainly due to the enterprise and energy of Mr. P. D. Gordon, of Mudies', Manchester, that the Branch was successfully started; thirty-two members have either joined or been transferred, and Mr. C. W. Sutton, Librarian of Manchester, has accepted the Presidency. The few meetings that have been held have been well attended, the papers provoking interesting discussions.

The Committee have to record their great satisfaction that the Education Committee of the Library Association has been able to continue the classes inaugurated last year, but they have to regret that the classes are not restricted to those actually engaged in library work. During the year an application was made by the Education Committee to the London Technical Education Board for a grant in aid of the classes, which was strongly supported by this Committee except so far as it related to the admission of non-practitioners. Owing to the differing views of the L.A. and L.A.A. on this point the Technical Education Board decided for the present to do nothing in the matter. It is, however, hoped that before long the classes may take a permanent place in the educational machinery of the County of London, and thus form a precedent for the establishment of similar classes in centres wherever technical funds are administered.

The Journal has continued to be regularly published, but to make its financial success secure, some extra subscriptions are needed, and librarians wishing to aid the work of the Association can best do so by subscribing for a copy of the journal which contains matter of current interest to all librarians. The Journal continues a useful aid to the work of the Association, and has led to a better understanding of its ideals in the provinces, and thus to a large increase of members. The small subscription to the L.A.A., carrying a free copy of the Journal, should lead to a much larger number of assistants becoming members. The Journal Committee during the year received from Mr. H. Jones the engraved block of an original design for the cover of the Journal, for which they are much indebted.

It is reported by the Librarian that during the year 31 books and 10 pamphlets have been added to the Library, which now contains 180 volumes. Included in this total are 57 catalogues and 15 reports. The following are the chief donations:—"Transactions and Proceedings of the Second International Conference, 1897" (3 copies), by the Executive Committee upon the application of the L.A.A.'s delegate; "Catalogue of the Welsh Library, Cardiff Free Library," by Mr. J. Ballinger; Greenwood's "Public Libraries" (several copies), and several catalogues, by Mr. J. Y. W. MacAlister; current numbers of "Medical Libraries," "Public Libraries," and "Rivista della Biblioteche," received in exchange for the Journal; "Library Series," vol. 1 to 4; Brown's "Manual of Library Classification" and "Adjustable Classification"; Quinn's "Manual of Cataloguing," and various catalogues and publications sent to the Journal for review; and the following by Miss M. S. R. James:—"Library Notes," vols 1 to 4; "General Index to the Library Journal," "Books for Girls and Women," "Books for Boys and Girls," "Paper and Ink," "A.L.A. List of Subject Headings," "Denver P.L. Handbook," "Reading for the Young," "Bibliography of Fine Art," "List of French Fiction," "Eclectic Card Catalog Rules," "Hints to Small Libraries," "Cutter's Alfabetic-order Table, altered and fitted with three figures," by Miss Kate Sanborn; "Cutter's Author Marks" and "Cole Size Card." The thanks of the L.A.A. are due to the donors above-mentioned, and to the librarians who have sent catalogues and reports from Battersea, Bishopsgate, Bootle, Bromley, Bulawayo, Carlisle, Cripplegate, Croydon, Devonport, Exeter, Fulham, Hammersmith, Hampstead, Holborn, Manchester, Nantwich, Penge, Plymouth, Rotherhithe, St. Bride, St. George, Hanover-square, St. George the Martyr, St. Saviour's, Waterloo-with-Seaforth, Watford and West Ham.

The Governors of St. Bride Foundation Institute in May granted to the members of the L.A.A. the valuable privilege of the use of the Blades and Passmore Edwards Libraries of the Institute—technical libraries which hitherto have been limited in use to members of the printing and allied trades.

Mr. Thomas Greenwood showed his continued interest in the work of the Association by presenting £20 to be distributed as prizes for essays in certain subjects. The following librarians kindly consented to act as adjudicators:—Messrs. J. Potter Briscoe, J. D. Brown, R. K. Dent, L. Inkster, J. H. Quinn, and W. H. K. Wright; and it is hoped that out of the essays sent in for the first and second prizes in two subjects each, senior and junior, some valuable papers will result. If possible the series of prize essays will be continued, and Mr. Cotgreave has offered an annual guinea for five years for the best essay to be contributed on practical subjects to be selected from time to time.

Messrs. Carter, Dyer, and Ogle represent the Association at the Superannuation Conference convened by the Municipal Officers' Association.

Dr. Garnett, an honorary member of the L.A.A., having retired from his post as Keeper of the Printed Books at the British Museum, the Committee decided to contribute to the testimonial organised by the L.A.

The number of members now enrolled is 161, being an increase of 60 since the publication of the last report. Of these 97 are senior and 64 junior members. Seventy-eight new members have been added during the year. There are also nine honorary members.

During the year no fewer than five members have been appointed to librarianships:—Mr. J. F. Cadenhead (Wallasey), Mr. S. J. Clarke (Penge), Mr. E. McKnight (Chorley), Mr. W. S. C. Rae (Darwen), and Mr. F. M. Roberts (St. George's E.)

From the financial point of view the past year has been again eminently satisfactory. The receipts have shown a substantial increase, and though the expenditure for the journal is comparatively heavy, the Treasurer has yet a substantial balance to meet the payments during the next few months. The year under review has been particularly rich in donations, and the following have been gratefully acknowledged:—Mr. A. H. Carter, £1 1s.; Mr. A. L. Clarke, 5s. 6d.; Mr. H. Ogle, £1 1s.; Mr. E. G. Rees, £1 1s.; Mr. F. M. Roberts, 10s. 6d.; "M. B. E.," £3 3s. In addition there are donations promised of £1 11s. 6d. The usual balance sheet is appended.

The Committee desire to cordially thank the retiring Chairman and officers for their valuable services, and in conclusion would again thank all those who have in any way contributed towards the welfare of the Association.

Signed on behalf of the Committee,

HENRY OGLE, Chairman.

B. L. DYER, Hon. Secretary.

The Library Assistant is an effective and punctual advertising medium. It circulates among the majority of public libraries in the United Kingdom, while it also has subscribers in the United States, Canada, Australia and Africa. Being the especial organ of those from whom the chief executive officers of new libraries are increasingly appointed, its advertisement pages are of distinct value to Publishers, Booksellers and Library Furnishers.

THE CARD CATALOGUE.

EVERY possessor of a library, no matter of how few volumes, recognises the desirability of keeping a proper record of it. This can only be done with perfect satisfaction by means of the card system, and the following are its chief advantages:—

- 1.—Strict alphabetical sequence can always be maintained.
- 2.—Books can be catalogued under author, title and subject, and arranged in the same index, cross references being made where necessary.
- 3.—When a volume is lent to a friend, a note to that effect can be entered on the card in a permanent or temporary way, and date of borrowing and return affixed.
- 4.—Any notes respecting date of accession; where purchased or how otherwise obtained; the owner's or his friend's opinions and comments on the book; remarks as to re-binding, etc., etc., can all be recorded upon the card relating to the book in question, as the owner desires.

The material of the cards is guaranteed to be of the finest quality obtainable, and to wear for very many years.

The Cabinets also are the best that money and experience can produce.

We believe that in placing this useful contrivance before book readers, at a moderate price, we are supplying an appreciated necessity.

Further particulars and prices may be obtained of—

*“Chelsea Public Libraries,
December 3rd, 1896.*

Messrs. Banting & Son have been the bookbinders to these Libraries from the commencement, in 1888, and have given every satisfaction.

Their work is lasting, reasonable in price, and carefully carried out.

The fact that they are binders under contract to a large number of Public Libraries is sufficient proof that in this particular line they are difficult to beat.
